Cheap jersey nba jerseys Cheap nba jerseys Learn more about the City of Berkeley's Clean Vessel Program, which provides a safe and effective means for the disposal of cormorants. Your suggestions are critical to the program's success. Please complete this form and drop it off at the following address: Civic Center Basin, December 16, 2019: City of Berkeley's Office of General Services is currently in the process of hiring staff to handle the transition of services, including the cleaning and debris removal, from the Sustainability Office, as the City joins the Open Space and Parks Department. All services will be provided by the new division. The clean vessel program, originally established in 1982, maintains a permit for individuals and groups wishing to remove cormorants that have found their way to the shoreline of the City. Clean Vessel Program staff are available to assist the public with cormorant removal. Duncan (1792 ship) Duncan was built in Scotland in 1790. A French privateer captured her in 1796, but the British recaptured her and took her into service. She traded between England and the Baltic. She was sold in 1807 and then made several voyages transporting convicts to Australia. She foundered in 1809. Career Duncan was launched at Leith. She entered Lloyd's Register (LR) in 1792 with D. Shutt, master, D & G. Smith, owner, and trade Leith. Lloyd's Register for 1797 showed Duncan with Colledge, master, changing to J. Matthews, and changing owners. LR for 1798 showed her with master J. Matthews, changing to J. Shutt, changing to J. Matthews, changing to C. Matthews, and changing to 82157476af
